Week of the Young Child

The Week of the Young Child is an annual celebration sponsored by the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC). NAEYC recognizes that the early childhood years lay the foundation for a child's success in school and later in life. Families have an opportunity to join together to celebrate children. Each of us has the opportunity to help build confident, life long learners through developmentally appropriate practices that build each individual child from the inside out.
